NATIONAL REPUBLICAN NOMINATIONS.

For President,
BENJ. HARRISON..... of Indiana.

For Vice-President,
WHITELAW REID..... of New York.

English politics is likely to live up and be at fever heat about the same time that our campaign is on in the United States. All signs indicate an early dissolution of Parliament, perhaps by the end of the present month, and an appeal to the country. The Irish local government bill has been withdrawn and the government has asked for two months' credit on account of appropriations. As soon as this is granted and the Clerical Discipline Bill disposed of the dissolution will probably take place. There is little doubt in Great Britain or that the Liberals will carry the next elections and that Gladstone will be returned to the premiership.

The opening of the Santa Fe line to Santa Monica last Saturday was the occasion for a jubilee at the latter place in which a large delegation from this place participated. Santa Monica, we believe, has passed her long trying ordeal of waiting for greatness and is soon to realize a handsome and well-deserved reward. The Southern Pacific Company, which has extended its line along the beach to Santa Monica Cañon, is now ready to receive bids for the construction of 3000 feet of wharf at the latter place. The Santa Fe will no doubt follow suit and build a wharf by the same time. The line will be built to accommodate maritime traffic. With ship and rail thus brought together in a competitive way Santa Monica will enter upon her larger career as a commercial entrepot. There is a great future in store for the place.

While it is in vogue in many sections to say that California is no place for the laboring man, the fact remains that there is today an unsupplied demand for labor in various portions of the State. The raisin-producers are considerably embarrassed in this way, owing to the rapid growth of the industry and the decreasing number of Chinese. During the grape-picking and raisin-packing season the supply of reliable labor was short last season, and it is believed there will be considerable difficulty in getting satisfactory labor this season, especially during the picking season. A meeting of raisin-growers has already been held for the consideration of this question, and inducements will be offered to bring in laborers from elsewhere. The idle people who can be picked up in San Francisco do not fill the bill very well, and an effort will be made to bring held-hands from the other side of the Rocky Mountains.

The State of Nevada proposes to try a new scheme this year to make her influence felt on the silver question. A convention has been called to nominate Presidential electors, "pledged to vote only for a free coinage candidate." An electoral ticket not committed to any particular candidates for President and Vice-President is something that has not been heard of since the early days of the Republic. If this plan were adopted by any number of States it would inject an element of uncertainty into the electoral college which would simply paralyze politics as now conducted. The tendency is not in the right direction. It would remove the selection of our chief magistrate one step further from the people of the Nation, and, in fact, would destroy the last semblance of a Democratic form of government. Such radical departures from custom as this and the Michiganizing idea show that the time has come when we must have a new constitutional amendment, fixing beyond the possibility of dangerous experiments the method of choosing the President and Vice-President. There are too many loopholes open for an evasion of popular sovereignty.

The Federal brigade does not like to be told that it must get ready to quit National politics, but all the same it is receiving the suggestion from a great many independent sources. One of the most potent objections hitherto urged against the control of railroads by the Government is that it would place such an army of employes under the control of the Administration that, by established machine methods, it could perpetuate itself indefinitely and thus subvert republican government. We do not know that the Nation will ever attempt to own and operate the railroads, although that may eventually prove our only salvation from monopoly. If that recourse is taken, however, it will only come on condition of disfranchising every man in the service while he holds his place. The people will then insist, as a measure of self-protection, that the employes of the Government not only refrain from caballing in politics, but that they surrender their franchise as well. It might not be a bad idea for the members of the brigade to think on these things a little. They had better accept the milder aspect of the reform gracefully and give up political manipulation or they may have to take the more drastic dose in the long run.

Our Canned Fruits in England.

The Herald of Trade has some encouraging words about the outlook for California canned fruits, and thinks that the operation of the McKinley law will be greatly in our favor with the English trade.

The rebate on tin plate, which was established incidentally with the increase in the import duty, amounts to the California packer to sufficient to cover freight, interest and insurance on goods shipped to Liverpool. A curious and somewhat anomalous result is that the jobber who purchases California canned fruits delivered in Liverpool gets them from 35 to 40 cents per dozen cheaper than the jobber in the Western States. Of course the effect of this condition will extend to the English consumer, who will purchase his canned fruits at from 35 to 40 cents cheaper per dozen than the consumers in our Western States. It would seem to be a perfectly rational conclusion that under the existing tariff we may expect a large increase in our canned goods trade with the English markets.

In 1890 we shipped about 16,000 cases of California canned fruits to London and Liverpool. In 1891 our shipments thither were upward of 180,000 cases. This year it is safe to say that we shall ship to England fully 400,000 cases. In 1890 our foreign shipments (to England) were 1 1/2 per cent. of the pack. This year they will be fully 38 1/2 per cent. of the entire product of California. From what has been gathered from reports from English trade journals, it would appear that our California canned fruits are in great favor over there, and a distribution of 400,000 cases this year will give the English markets the first fair test in a wholesale way that they have had.

The Wall of Land Monopoly.

The last number of the San Francisco Wasp (which, by the way, is considerably improved since its change of ownership) has a striking double-page cartoon that teaches a good deal in an allegorical way. It represents the land barons of California erecting a high wall to keep the fugitives from tornado-swept Kansas on the left from entering the land of perpetual sunshine and bounty on the right. The great blocks of stone already laid in the wall include such holdings as the following: Henry Miller, 600,000 acres; T. B. Haggin, 150,000 acres; California Pastoral Company, 140,000 acres; J. S. Cone, 109,000 acres; Timothy Piller, 75,000 acres, and so forth. Henry Miller, one of the masons employed on the job, is just in the act of laying in 100,000 acres more. A legend on the California side of the wall runs as follows:

Two hundred thousand families are kept out of the San Joaquin Valley alone by the large holdings of 100 men who refuse to sell land except at fully developed values. A similar legend intimates that 32,000 families are kept out of the Sacramento Valley by another 100 men similarly disposed. The artist suggests that this is what some noted "builders of our commonwealth" are doing to discourage immigration. The picture is well conceived and well executed, and it makes a graphic presentation of one of the greatest evils that besets California. Fortunately for us the southern counties do not suffer to the same extent as those in the middle portion of the State, and the tendency here is to subdivide and sell the large ranches rather than to increase the holdings.

The Citrus Industry is All Right.

Of late there has been something of a disposition on the part of various writers for the press to "bear" the orange industry. All of the old arguments about over-production have been brought forth afresh, and, as these arguments are reinforced by the most unfortunate season for citrus fruits that California has ever known, they find more general acceptance than hitherto. The pessimists will have their day, but all the same the citrus industry will march right along, and, before we hardly realize the fact, will be demonstrating anew that it is still the most profitable branch of horticulture in the United States. A speaker at the recent spring meeting of the Pomological Society of Southern California gave a correct view of the situation in the following words:

"This question of over-production is good, of a 'booby man.' We have heard of it ever since our fruits have been produced in commercial quantities. We all can remember when the apple business was about to be overdone, yet this fruit commands a good price. The demand for it is constant. The fruit is increasing; modern life demands it. As yet our oranges only reach the head distributing centers in the East. Many of our thousands of thousands of inhabitants of middle west never eat half a dozen oranges a year. In the early days oranges were sold here by the thousand at from $15 to $25; now they go by the carload, being nicely graded and packed in uniform boxes. Prices on the whole are also better. With the increase of prices the quality of the fruit has improved; transportation is also less, enabling us to exploit for new markets. In my opinion the time is not far distant when we shall have a rate of $100 per car to New York.

The industry is yet in this formative stage as respects markets. Nature has formed California with a season all to herself. Mediterranean and Florida products will not ordinarily compete with ours because the time of ripening is different. Neither are there any other kinds of fruit to glut the markets when we enter them. All we need to do is to go ahead with unshaken confidence in the outcome and prepare ourselves to supply the increased demand which will open for our products. A more general acquaintance with our citrus fruits, cheaper freights and wider ramifications of marketing will make a place for all that we can produce and yield handsome returns therefor.

OSTRICH FARM AT CHICAGO.

The Birds Being Acclimated for the World's Fair Exhibit.

Oakwood, just below the World's Fair grounds, at Chicago, is boasting of the only ostrich farm in the country outside of California. The California-African ostrich farm exhibit has thirty-five of the great plumed bipeds strutting around under the watchful eye of E. J. Johnson, who brought his long-necked pets all the way from the Pacific Coast in a furniture car. The birds arrived in Chicago Thursday at midnight and were taken to Oakwood the next day, marched down a runway into the enclosure and all Oakwood climbed the fence to look in. The ostriches will be put through the process of acclimation. Nearly all of the birds were hatched in an incubator and are considered an unusually well-selected lot, all strong, hearty, fine specimens. They come from the California ostrich farm in San Diego county, Cal., and are the offspring of the twenty-three birds brought from Africa by Manager Johnson in 1883. There are over 100 left being raised on the place, and what was an experiment a very large town and a sturdy and hardy race, now regarded as an assured success.

The older birds at the Oakwood farm have plumage of a beautiful glossy black, but the hens and chicks—only of those of the day before yesterday—have a ten-foot fence without straining a muscle, are a mixture of drab and brown. The cocks mature at 5 years of age, the hens at 4, and, although the average life is 25 years, they have been known to live much longer. The birds are sturdy and pugnacious. James G. Blaine was sold to a Denver admirer just before the convention, and John L. Sullivan has gone to Honolulu. Grover Cleveland is a large fellow, black and brown, with an expansive smile and a ready wit. He is going to test his lot of birds this year. I think they'll breed here all right. In a few days I will have a Petaluma incubator all set up, ready for hatching. I feed the ostriches on feed, grain, vegetables and grass. Yes, they will eat nails, but I'd rather they take something not quite so long—glass, for instance. They swallow such things to help them prepare their food for digestion. It doesn't hurt them," and he threw a large California ostrich into the Hamilton, who swallowed it in a gulp, and another and another, until her distended neck looked like a section of a bamboo fishing rod with the knobs six inches apart.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

The Interest Being Taken in Southern California.

The San Francisco Chronicle of June 18, in its report of the State World's Fair Commissioners, held in that city on the 17th, has this to say in regard to the work in this end of the State:

From the large number of letters received from Frank Higgins, secretary of the Southern California District Association, it would appear that the citizens of that locality are more alive to the importance of the exposition than those of other localities. A special plank in the legislation as may be necessary to prevent trusts. Probably there may be recommended legislation which will remove the duty on articles introduced by trusts as one means of restricting the operation of these concerns.

The "Force Bill" plank will be a ringing declaration against placing the polls in the hands of Federal officeholders, and will declare that the security of the liberty of the people demands that no such interference with the free expressions of the will of the people.

The silver plank will be very general in its terms and attempt is being made to have the convention declare in favor of free coinage, but the party sentiment is against a departure from established lines in the campaign, and the most that can be expected is some such declaration as that the coinage law is a national law which should be maintained in its full force.

The International Monetary Conference will be a subject of much interest to the people. The restoration of the Democratic party to power will be asked of the people in order that laws increasing Government expenses may be repealed and relief given to the people.

Harrison's administration will come in for consideration, and the conduct of the Pension Office is likely to be especially considered. Matters to be treated are likely to be the following: Free American registry to ships chiefly owned and controlled by American citizens; the maintenance of a navy adequate to the protection of American interests and the honor of citizens, the exclusion of China-able and to divide peacefully whenever such course should be impracticable.

Rather heated differences of opinion arose as to whether any but silver-producing States should be invited to the more general meeting to be held Monday afternoon. Some of those present, a Wyoming delegate particularly, wanted the gathering to embrace all friends of silver, including those from the Southern States and elsewhere, whether silver producers or not.

The Colorado and Montana men strenuously opposed this proposition, contending that only delegations from the States of the Union ought to have an active voice until something definite in the way of a general policy was decided upon.

The idea of temporarily restricting representation to the Rocky Mountain District prevailed, and the Executive Committee was appointed to bring matters to a focus. The committee consists of Hawley of Idaho, O'Donnell of Colorado, Beck of Wyoming, Clark of Montana, Clark of Nevada, and others.

Nothing definite as to Presidential preferences was arrived at. The names of Hill and Cleveland were mentioned incidentally in the speech-making, the former being received with decided manifestations of favor and the latter with icy indifference, except in conversation among groups in the room no reference was made to Boies, Gorman or any of the favorite sons.

OPPOSING FIGURES.

Late Estimates of the Cleveland and Hill Leaders.

CHICAGO, June 19.—[By the Associated Press.] Late tonight there is a difference of 166 between the estimates of Cleveland's strength as made by the Hill managers and the Kentucky friends of Cleveland. Cleveland's opponents give him 423. They do not give figures as to Hill's strength. The official list of the anti-Hill managers gives Cleveland 589, doubtful and not counted 312. The sum of these totals, 901, exceeds the total number of delegates to the convention, and the excess is not clearly explained. Cleveland's opponents question the correctness of the estimate giving the entire number of delegates to Cleveland. Gen. Russell, however, states that twenty-eight of the thirty have always been Cleveland men, and Cleveland managers tonight state that the other two came to Cleveland headed from the Hill managers, and that they would vote for Cleveland. The Clevelandmen, while they claimed only twenty of the thirty votes from Texas, state that they are practically assured that five more will be added to Cleveland's column from the Texas delegation.

Judge Henderson of Utah, it is stated tonight, affirmed that both Utah delegates will vote for Cleveland. After the Cleveland missionaries this afternoon had rushed in and a desperate fight ensued before Ruggles was captured in Woodland tonight after a desperate fight, in which Ruggles was mortally wounded, Charles Ruggles was captured soon after the robbery and officers have been hunting for him ever since. Today they received information that he would be at the house of his uncle, Thomas Dexter, near Woodland, at 4:30 o'clock. Deputy Sheriff Dave Wycoff was sent to Dexter's house to watch for Ruggles, but the latter did not appear and the officer went away.

"Soon after Ruggles arrived and word was sent to the sheriff, but before he could arrive the robber escaped. He was traced to Woodland and was found in a restaurant eating supper. Sheriff Wycoff entered the restaurant, ordered a meal, Ruggles, who used to go to school with Wycoff, recognized the officer and, putting a bill of fare in front of his face, reached for his revolver. Wycoff had the drop on him, however, and ordered him to throw up his hands. Ruggles did not obey the command and pulled his pistol.

Before he could use it Wycoff shot him through the left side of the neck. BOTH DROWNED.

Sad Ending of a Pleasure Party at San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19.—[By the Associated Press.] Miss Nellie Schapp and Frank Horn, both aged 18 years, were drowned in the bay today. They were members of a sailing party on the schooner yacht Jessie. The water was very rough, and when off Alcatraz Island Horn lost his footing and fell overboard. In his endeavor to save himself from going over he caught Miss Schapp by the arm and pulled her into the water with him. Horn kept hold of the girl and bravely tried to swim to the yacht, but before the boat could reach them they were drowned.

The Proposed Cut by Carnegie.

PITTSBURGH, June 19.—There was a meeting of 3000 amalgamated workers at Homestead today to consider the proposed reduction offered by Carnegie, which goes into effect the 24th inst. The speakers all counseled moderation and firmness. Mechanics and day laborers who are not members of the Amalgamated Association decided to hold a meeting Wednesday evening to consider the proposed reduction in wages. Probably they will stand by the association and refuse to work if a strike is declared.

Typographical Union No. 6.

NEW YORK, June 19.—Typographical Union No. 6 held a meeting today. After the regular meeting was adjourned another was organized and a resolution was passed stating that the organization had never given the Minneapolis committee power to endorse any person for political preference.

An Actor's Suicide.

CLEVELAND (O.), June 19.—The body of Marr J. Pundleton, a well-known actor, was found this morning in Wade Park, with a revolver and a bottle of chloroform by his side. A letter in his pocket to his wife showed it a case of suicide.

A Race Across the Ocean.

NEW YORK, June 19.—The race between the White Star steamer Alaska and the Canadian Aurania across the ocean to the west, was won by the former, which arrived at Sandy Hook this afternoon in 7 days, 5 hours and 45 minutes, with only about twenty minutes to her credit. The Alaska was delayed by broken machinery a few hours on Tuesday last.

Want the Fair Open on Sunday.

NEW YORK, June 19.—At a meeting of the Associated Trades of New York last evening resolutions were adopted calling on Congress to pass the bill appropriating $500,000 for the World's Fair and protesting against closing the fair on Sunday.

ese laborers, restriction of immigration and better enforcement of the immigration laws.

The Nicaragua Canal has a number of strong supporters and an indorsement of the project is likely, but with some provision not committing the Government to its construction.

The World's Fair managers are impressing upon the delegates the fact that the Democratic party ought not to give the great Exposition less hearty indorsement than did the Minneapolis convention.

The declaration of the Republican platform favoring the cession of arid lands to the States will cause the Western representatives to ask Democratic aid in meeting this appeal to the suffrages of settlers of the Rocky Mountain region. A vigorous effort will also be made to secure the adoption of a resolution looking to the election of President and Senators by a direct vote of the people.

NEW YORK, June 19.—[By the Associated Press.] Chauncey M. Depew was as happy as a schoolboy when he returned from his trip to Washington. To a reporter he said: "The position of Secretary of State is the most important place in the Cabinet of the President, and the appointment to which any man must be proud."

HONORING BISMARCK.

The Ex-Chancellor's Triumphant Journey to Vienna.

Wild Enthusiasm Displayed All Along the Route.

In a Speech He Says He Will Never Again Accept Office.

Other Foreign News—Crespo's Force Rout the Venezuelan Government Troops With Great Slaughter—More Fighting in Africa.

By Telegram to The Times.

DRESDEN, June 19.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] Prince Bismarck, replying to an address presented by Court Chancellor Asterlup last night, said he represented a closed past and would never again accept office.

VIENNA, June 19.—When Bismarck and party arrived here this evening rain was falling heavily. Nevertheless a great crowd assembled. Inside the station were gathered hundreds of students and anti-Semites, who literally mobbed the ex-Chancellor in the exuberance of their enthusiasm. No representatives of the nobility or court were present to receive the Prince.

Prince Bismarck's journey from Fredericksharpe to Vienna was a triumphal progress. At the Anhalt station in Berlin a great many bouquets and baskets of choice exotics were handed to the Prince and Princess. The cars rolled out of the station amid a thunderous volley of cheers, and the enthusiasm of the crowd did not subside until the train had disappeared in the distance. Popular demonstrations were renewed at all stations en route to Dresden.

The heartiness of the reception given to the Prince at Dresden moved the ex-Chancellor to tears. Responding to the greeting accorded him, he said: "I have devoted my life to the service of the nation. I have been twice convinced me of my success. Our mutual friendship did not exist formerly; let us remain a united nation of brothers."

Having arrived at Vienna the Prince was driven to Palfy palace. The whole route, a distance of two miles, was lined by a double column of cheering and singing enthusiasts. It is doubtful if Prince Bismarck will exercise his high right as wearer of the grand cross of the Order of St. Stephen to visit Emperor Francis Joseph without first asking the favor of an audience. The persons invited to the wedding include all foreign diplomats in Vienna. Public interest in the affair, fanned by the newspapers, has grown most intense. The newspaper comments on the wedding are decidedly friendly in tone. A number of anti-Semites and German National students have ordered 1000 carriages for the occasion. They will arrive in a body at Palfy palace tomorrow afternoon and leave specially printed cards for Prince Bismarck.

On the car going out to the ball park yesterday afternoon, along with Glenavlin and the Angels, was a raw-boned young fellow with a slouch hat and curly hair which needed shingling. He had on a pair of stogie shoes and a pepper and salt suit which wasn't tailor-made by long odds. He stood about six feet three inches when straightened out, and his big, horny hands and general bearing gave him the appearance of a husky plow boy from some remote precinct.

When the home team was rung out for practice this unobtrusive individual appeared in "Pop" McCauley's uniform and ambled out toward first base. It was Billy Strong, the Pomona pride, who had undertaken to fill the biggest gap in the California League. He was given a rousing welcome, and without even appearing to notice that any one was looking at him at all he began his first professional engagement in as modest but conscientious a way as thought, he was chasing the ball among the plow furrows for the Pomona amateur club.

Strong had never wore a glove before in a game, but Glenavlin insisted on his putting on at least a light fielder's glove, but he appeared to regard it with considerable contempt, and looked with compassion on the fellow whose hands were not as tough as an ordinary buckskin glove.

The cranks on the bleachers regarded the newcomer with many misgivings, but the plowboy paid no attention to that. He went right ahead in the most faithful manner possible, taking care of everything that came his way, being as cool as a cucumber and about as easily rattled as a stone wall. His work sometimes lacked the polish and grace that marks an old leaguer, but he got there just the same and accepted every chance that came his way without a single hitch.

His showing with the bat was even more gratifying than that in the field. He forced the pitcher to put the ball right over the pan, and in the eighth inning, when he caught the first ball pitched square on the nose and lined it out for three bases his standing with the cranks was assured. The next inning he laced out a single, and after it was all over he modestly received the congratulations of his admirers and promised Capt. Glenavlin he would be on hand again Tuesday for practice.

According to Senator Valle the game yesterday was a regular "cracker-jack," whatever that is, and after putting in the whole afternoon the Angels once more snatched victory from defeat and won by a score of 4 to 3.

The visitors began with seven runs in the first two innings, which once more put Col. Too Previous Robinson in a happy frame of mind, and he remained in this state until the seventh inning had been recorded, and he had seen his mis-pitches laid low once more.

With the score standing 8 to 6 in favor of the Colonels the Angels opened the seventh with a single by Newman. After considerable wrangling Capt. Carroll allowed Bais to run the man, who is almost too lame to even walk. German lost control entirely at this point and sent Strong, Hulen and Wright on a walk to first, crowding in Newman's score. Then, with the bases full, "Old Hen" Tredway smashed a home run drive against the right field fence. It was a magnificent swipe and cheer after cheer went up for the kindergarten idol as he rounded the circuit. Then Hasamaer and Glenavlin singled and both scored on errors by O'Neill and Manassau.

In the next inning Strong opened with a three-bagger to left center and "Kid" Hulen followed with a single, afterward being crowded in by a base on balls.

Many a trip will be made to the ball park before another such exciting game is witnessed. The swat of the bat hit was heard with little intermission for two hours and the crowd, even in the ninth inning the Colonels came near tying the score by piling up four runs on five clean hits before the side could be retired. Both Bais and German soaked in wonderfully effective ball at times, but the hits came in nice bunches, interspersed with the deadly base on balls, and the result was a charming uncertainty which was very trying on the nerves of the spectators.

Like the Saturday game, it properly belonged to the visitors, but when Tredway uncorked a fresh lot of ginger and kept yelling to the batter: "Now, do something, there," and put his old-time snap and vim into his coaching, it was a small matter to take the game.

The contest was full of sensational plays. Tredway, Stafford and Shea each made a circus catch in the field and the second base play of Glenavlin was above par. Hulen also put up a nice game and Shea carried off the batting honors with three singles and a double. Following is the official score:

SUMMARY.

Earned runs—Los Angeles, 2; Oakland, 3. Home runs—Tredway. Three base hits—Strong and Manassau. Two base hits—Wright, Newman, Bais and Hutchinson.

Sacrifice hits—Wright, Newman, Bais and Hutchinson.

Three games a week appears to be too much for Bais as his arm is now in rather bad shape.

Rogers leaves today for the Arrowhead Springs, where he will remain three or four weeks.

Strong is a sprinter as well as a hard slugger. When he gets a few doses of Tredway's ginger he will be all right.

Joe Shea has a batting average of .417 for his work with the Colonels, and yet Robinson says he is a weak man.

President Vanderbeck has given "Pop" McCauley permission to grow a crop of gray whiskers while he is on the hospital list.

First base on errors—Los Angeles 4, Oakland 1. First base on called balls—By German, 5; by Bais, 5. Left on bases—Los Angeles 12, Oakland 7. Struck out—By German, 4; by Bais, 1. DIAMOND DUST.

Three games a week appears to be too much for Bais as his arm is now in rather bad shape.

Rogers leaves today for the Arrowhead Springs, where he will remain three or four weeks.

Strong is a sprinter as well as a hard slugger. When he gets a few doses of Tredway's ginger he will be all right.

Joe Shea has a batting average of .417 for his work with the Colonels, and yet Robinson says he is a weak man.

President Vanderbeck has given "Pop" McCauley permission to grow a crop of gray whiskers while he is on the hospital list.

Newman has one of the cords under his knee badly injured and it is getting worse instead of better. It is too bad that he is obliged to play.

With McCauley and Rogers out and Tredway and Newman practically laid up the Angels will do well to win three out of five in the next three weeks.

The series just closed has demonstrated that the Colonels and Angels are well-matched clubs, and the latter may never again take four out of five from them.

"Gentle Willie" Hasamaer was presented with a big bouquet yesterday by an admirer in the grand stand. It was handed to him by Umpire McDonald when he stepped to the plate in the first inning and he responded by cracking out a base hit and stealing second.

"Mike" Kelly's Memorial day record of four runs, a three-bagger, a double, three singles, a sacrifice, ten put outs, three assists and no errors caused a sickening qualm to fill the souls of New Yorkers who spent the spring in fear lest he should join the Giants and demoralize them for a little of that kind of demoralization!—New York Herald.

Hutchinson indulged in some rather questionable tactics in the game here. In Thursday's game he deliberately knocked a ball out of a baseman's hands to prevent being touched out, and Friday he jumped up in the air and made a lunge at Hasamaer with his spiked shoes and clearly tried to do some injury. Yesterday when Hasamaer was running the bases in the seventh, O'Neill overthrew to third to catch the runner, whereupon Hutchinson threw him violently to the ground and attempted to hold him there till O'Neill could pick up the ball; but Hasamaer proved to be something of a wrestler himself and turned the tables on Hutch, both he and Glenavlin scoring before the ball could be fielded.

San Jose 4—San Francisco 2.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 19.—San José defeated the home team here today by a score of 4 to 2. Up to the eighth inning the score was 1 to 0 in favor of San Francisco, but San José bunched hits and tallied four. The fielding of both teams was excellent.

San Jose, Harper and Clark; San Francisco, Fanning and Spies.

THE PROHIBITIONISTS.

Preparations Being Made at Cincinnati for the National Convention.

The Reception Committee, of which E. J. Morris is chairman, has issued a pamphlet for the information of delegates and visitors attending the National Prohibition Convention to be held in the Music Hall at Cincinnati. From it is here reproduced the following extract:

The Local Reception Committee and friends in Cincinnati desire to extend a cordial welcome to all delegates and visitors to attend the Sixth National Prohibition Convention in Cincinnati, O., on the 29th and 30th inst. It will be the aim of the committee to make the occasion pleasant and memorable to all who will come.

The spirit of philanthropy, interwoven with the principles of prohibition, uniting us in unswerving action for the success of the advancing movement, should stimulate every prohibitionist to press to the front, in anticipation of contributing counsel, in methods and plans that shall confer honor to the hearts and homes of the people, so as to detract the liquor traffic in the Nation by the stout hearts and strong arms of intelligent, conscientious voters through the ballot-box. From all indications we are led to believe that the approaching convention will be much larger than any national prohibition assembly ever held, with leading national talent from all parts of the United States.

Solid delegations from every State and Territory and a large number of visitors, are expected to come. Some on special trains, with drums and bands, making Cincinnati lively with Prohibition music and songs. Each State delegation is expected to arrange, so far as possible, to come together and reach Cincinnati not later than the 28th inst., and notify the chairman of the Reception Committee when the train will arrive.

Cincinnati has accommodations, in good hotels and restaurants, for tens of thousands of guests, and Music Hall, will, if necessary, hold 10,000 people. Visitors should have no misgiving about being admitted to the convention.

Like the Saturday game, it properly belonged to the visitors, but when Tredway uncorked a fresh lot of ginger and kept yelling to the batter: "Now, do something, there," and put his old-time snap and vim into his coaching, it was a small matter to take the game.

Wonderful Cures

DR. WONG,

713 South Main Street, - - - Los Angeles, California.

"Skillful cure increases longevity to the world."

"Ingeniously locating diseases through the pulse and excellent remedies are great blessings to the world."

The above are two fac-similes of many REWARDS OF MERIT or DIPLOMAS OF PROFESSIONAL SKILL which have from time to time been awarded to the CELEBRATED CHINESE PHYSICIAN, DR. WONG, for his superior medical abilities and curative power.

It has long been customary among the Chinese people when one becomes sick and when repeated attempts to cure him have failed, and he is perhaps given up to die, if after having been taken to an eminent physician he is cured of his disease—the cured, too in addition to the regular fee for professional services rendered, takes the physician as a token of gratitude for his restoration to health and the prolongation of his life. This present consists usually of a large scroll, presenting much the appearance of a sign-board, filled with characters entirely meaningless to the average English scholar, but full of meaning to the successful physician and his friends. It is a motto which highly commends the physician for his great skill in effecting a cure of the disease which once afflicted the honor.

It is not an uncommon thing to see a great number of these COMPLIMENTARY DIPLOMAS adorning the office walls of Chinese physicians in their native country, and indeed a number of the most successful ones in this country are the happy possessors of a few of these high tokens of very sincere appreciation.

THE TROPICO SCANDAL

Revived by the Serious Sickness of the Injured Wife.

Readers of THE TIMES will remember the Hollingsworth-Schuler sensation at Tropico, a full account of which was published a few months ago. Hollingsworth was living quietly with his wife and family when he conceived a passion for the wife of Schuler.

For a time neither Schuler nor Mrs. Hollingsworth suspected anything wrong, but the frequent trips of the guilty pair to this city caused an investigation, which results, which led to a general family row and a scandal followed in the newspapers.

Things became so warm for Hollingsworth that he pulled up stakes and moved to this city, where he found employment. After a time he induced his wife to follow him. She consented under the agreement that her husband would have nothing more to do with the Schuler woman. Mrs. Hollingsworth plainly informed her husband that the first false step on the part of her husband would be the signal for her to pack her traps and return to Tropico.

The husband promised fidelity, and he firmly believed he would never break the bond, but in a short time he and the Tropico woman, who had also made up with her better-half, were holding secret meetings several times a week.

RAILROAD AFFAIRS

Salt Lake City Complains Against the Southern Pacific.

Charges Discrimination in Favor of San Francisco—Officials Appear Glad to Hear It—Local Notes.

The San Francisco Examiner says that the Chamber of Commerce of Salt Lake has filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission a complaint stating that the Southern Pacific Company is discriminating against Salt Lake City in favor of San Francisco in the matter of overland rates, and when the Interstate Commerce Commission meets at Salt Lake next July for the purpose of inquiring into the complaint filed by the Chamber of Commerce of that city, three of the witnesses will be Messrs. Stubbs, Gray and Smurr, all officials of the Southern Pacific system. Briefly, the Salt Lake complaint includes the Southern Pacific, Union Pacific, Rio Grande Western, Colorado Midland and Santa Fe, Rock Island, Burlington and Missouri Pacific roads, and objects to their present practice of jointly making a less rate to and from San Francisco on overland shipments than is given Salt Lake merchants, who have the shorter haul. It is another case arising out of the long and short haul clause of the Interstate Law, and it is generally believed that the railroads are not in any way violating the law. They justify their present rates on the ground that while they have to meet a sea competition, as at this point, they have a legal right to make a lesser rate for the longer haul, and because of the fact that the commissioners have upheld this position in former cases that have been brought before them.

It is expected that at the meeting of the Interstate Commerce Commission at Salt Lake to examine into the complaint the Southern Pacific officials will be glad to testify, as by so doing they claim that they will be able to establish that the Southern Pacific is not discriminating against San Francisco as they claim is asserted by the Traffic Association, of which Mr. Castle is president.

Both President Castle and Mr. Leeds of the Traffic Association think that the Salt Lake complaint will but serve to give the railroad people a chance to explode a "little stage thunder," and give their reasons for it. First, because the Traffic Association people say there is nothing to do with the railroad's bad treatment of the San Francisco merchants in the making of local rates in California; second, the Association has not been, nor is it now, fighting the railroad in its overland rates, not because it thinks them in every respect perfectly square and right, but because it thinks its first great duty on behalf of the city lies in the direction of reduced local rates, and it means to hew to that line until relief is obtained; third, because they think overland rates can be overhauled and revised in such a way as to benefit this city very materially.

—Scripps Hearst.

Work on the Peninsular Railway of Mexico has been suspended. Eighteen miles are already completed and equipped.

Dan McCool, formerly general manager of the Southern California road, after a visit of several months' duration, has gone East.

J. J. Byrne, assistant general passenger traffic manager of the Santa Fe system, arrived at Las Vegas Hot Springs last week, with his wife, to pass a brief season.

The Union Pacific, which is now under the Gould management, embraces 8,000 miles of road. Its earnings amount to $40,000,000 annually, and it has a debt of $17,500,000 mile.

Who would think, to look at a big railway locomotive, that it could by any possibility be put together in less than a day? A London paper says that the feat was accomplished at the Stratford works of the Great Eastern Railway of England. The locomotive was a standard freight locomotive of the six-coupled type, weighing more than thirty-seven tons, and able to haul a load of 560 tons. From the driving of the first rivet to the application of the final coat of varnish the work occupied less than ten hours.

ALVARADO-NORDHOLT.

The Points at Issue in the Case Recently Decided.

In the suit of Alvarado, appellant, vs Nordholt et al., respondents, in which the Supreme Court sitting in bank handed down a decision Friday affirming the judgment of the lower court, the action was brought to recover possession of an interest in a certain lot in Los Angeles which the plaintiff claims to own in common with four of the defendants by reason of inheritance from his grandfather, Francisco Xavier Alvarado.

The lower court found that the plaintiff was not the owner of any interest in the property, and judgment was accordingly rendered in favor of the defendants. The land in controversy is within the limits of the former pueblo of Los Angeles. No written evidence of the title of the plaintiff's grandfather was produced, though he had occupied the premises as a house lot from 1817 until his death in 1831, and his widow continued in occupation until her death in 1851. In the administration of the estate of the grandmother the property was sold to William Nordholt.

MUNICIPAL MATTERS.

Meeting of the Council Today and the School Board This Evening.

The City Council meets at 10 o'clock this morning, when an interesting session is looked for. The report of the Finance Committee may cause some debate. The various recommendations will probably go through, but from the way some of the members of the Council have been talking there may be a request for some information as to the financial methods of some of the boards, in order to determine exactly what there is in the charges of carelessness and extravagance in the management of the departments.

In one instance it is claimed that there has been a direct violation of law by the school board, in the construction of the retaining wall about the Union avenue school lot. The charter specifies ally provides that in all work costing $500 and over, bids shall be advertised for. It is claimed that this wall has cost about $1200, that no bids were advertised for, and that no specifications for the work were prepared. It is further charged that C. H. Axtell, the janitor of the High school, was appointed superintendent of the work, at $4 a day, and that for a portion of the time that he was so employed he was also drawing $125 a month for his services as janitor of the High school. These matters, it is claimed, are of record in the minutes of the board, and if such is the case an effort may be made to get the money back.

A discharged employe has also been making some serious charges against a sewer contractor and has written a letter to the City Clerk to be presented to the Council, which may also come up.

The School Board meets this evening, when various matters are expected to come up. There has been considerable talk during the past week, as a result of which one janitor has been discharged and at least one teacher has vigorously protested about the loose manner in which gossiping tongues have been wagging.

Clearwater School Exercises.
The closing exercises of the public school at Clearwater, under the leadership of Prof. J. I. Hill, Friday afternoon, were largely attended. An interesting programme was given. The only pupil receiving the honor and diploma of graduation was Master Clayton Hinman. He was called forward and passed a severe test in spelling. Fifty words of four and more syllables of foreign derivation were given him for the first time. He correctly spelled four words of the fifty, making his per cent. 80. He had been examined previously in his other studies and stood well.

Prof. Hill was presented with a handsome gold-headed cane. An appropriate speech was made by one of the young girls and the professor responded wittily by saying he was aware he was to leave Clearwater, but did not know he deserved to be caned out of town by a young lady. After this and more humorous repast was served by the ladies.

One Price! Plain Figures! Money Cheerfully Refunded!

People's Store!

June 20, 1892.

It is just one year since we told you that our business was to undergo a radical change. The classes of goods carried were to be bettered, while the prices were to be lowered. We thank you for your assistance and patronage. As to whether our assertions were carried out we refer you to our Silk and Dress Goods stock, which was at once moved to the most prominent part of our stores and filled with the most desirable goods to be purchased. We refer you to our various departments in the house, each of which is stocked with better goods than we ever dreamed of carrying. As to whether our prices have been lowered we refer you to the crowds of eager patrons who frequent the People's Store. Has the tone of business been changed? We refer you to our style and methods in contrast with former years.

THE FUTURE.

We have the most successful business San Francisco has ever seen inaugurated. It was one year old last week—"The Mass." Certainly the tastes and demands of that public are a strong criterion as to our abilities and our wares. Unknown, unheralded we entered the field; "greenies" from the "rural districts," and showed San Francisco merchants what Los Angeles ideas and Southern California brains could accomplish. There we carry only the finest of goods, here we propose to do the same, but to place them within the reach of all. We do business on the commission principle, charging simply a percentage on landed cost, not in the light of a profit, but acting as your agent and dealing directly for you with the largest commission houses of the country. By comparison with the prices of others you will find our assertions verified.
